

Welcome to your Forté Team Pulse Report. Every team has a potential, and this report is designed and intended to build the understanding and trust that drives exceptional teams that deliver exceptional results. Because Forté is not a once - then - done event this report can be updated as often as every 30 days. As Forté captures and shares the pulse of this team, relationships of respect and rapport evolve. Behavior follows Commitment. Commitment follows Trust. Trust follows Understanding/Experience. Understanding/Experience Starts With A Relationship of Respect and Rapport.

So, individuals and teams that trust one another will maximize their potential. Please use this report to understand how you can best adapt and balance with one another to achieve the common goal, and the not so common results. Success of the team leads to the success of the individual.

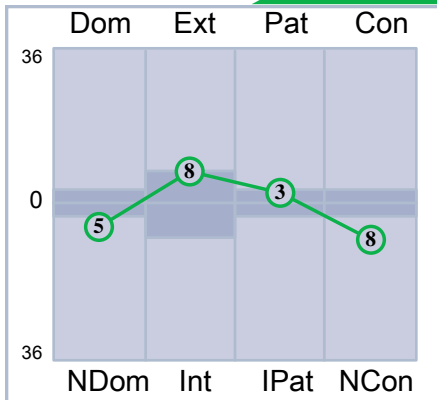

With your Forté Team Pulse Report you will learn one another's primary strengths, how the team is adapting to the current environment and how the team is currently being perceived by others, just like how individuals can be perceived by one another.

You will also see, on the last page of this report, the aggregate current logic style, stamina and goals index for the most recent 30 days. This data helps to understand and build team resiliency, which is critical to exceptional performance over time, as the team grows and successfully manages the comings and goings of team members and the day-to-day opportunities to achieve success.
